

“City”

- City as a Place of Human Diseases & Medicine - 2nd to 3rd, May, 2019

Place : Room 701, College of Medicine, Kyung Hee University, Seoul, Korea

Host : Kyung Hee University, The Kyung Hee University Medical History Research Institute
& Korean Society for History of Medicine

Subjective : Oxford University, The Wellcome Unit for the History of Medicine

13:30-13:50	Registration
13:50-14:00	Welcome Speech	Yim Sung-Vin
14:00-15:00	Keynote Lecture
	Medicine from the Recipient's Perspective: The Changing Face of South Korean Medical / Bioscience Practice in East and Southeast Asia, 1954-present	John DiMoia Seoul National University
Coffee Break
SESSION 1 “Asian City and Infectious Diseases”
15:10-16:30	Malaria and Modernity in Bombay, 1904-1942	Mark Harrison WUHMO
	Malaria in Mandalay: Changes in the urban landscape between 1912 and 2001	Atsuko Naono WUHMO
Coffee Break
16:40-18:40	A City within a City: Framing Leprosy in Carville, Louisiana during the Twentieth Century	Kong Hyejung Grace Konyang University
	Management of Tuberculosis in Korea and The Role of Public Health Centers	Kwon Oh Young Kyung Hee University
	Infectious Disease Control and Management of Insolation Hospitals (Hibyoin) in Meiji Japan	Kim Youngsoo Yonsei University
Welcome Reception

의사학 醫史學

8:30-9:00	Registration
SESSION 2 “Urban Sanitation”
9:00-11:00	The Adoption of Public Bath System and Urban Sanitation in Colonial Korea	Park Yunjae Kyung Hee University
	Dealing with the problem of vagrant leprosy patients in the postcolonial (urban) spaces: deportation, segregation, and settlement	Kim Jae Hyung Hanshin University
	Railway health facilities in colonial Korea	Lee Yeonkyung Incheon National University
Coffee Break
SESSION 3 “Malaria and Public Health”
11:20-13:20	Transmission of Malaria by Anopheles stephensi in Urban Centres of the Indian Sub-Continent	J. Kevin Baird EOCRU
	Urban Malaria beyond the Village Republic: Tracing malaria in the shifting landscapes of urban India after 1947	Cressida Jervis Read WUHMO
	Eradicating parasites, eradicating empire: Anti-malaria screening of Japanese repatriates after World War Two	Jeong-Ran Kim WUHMO
LUNCH
SESSION 4 “National Development and Health”
14:30-15:50	Current Status of Living Donor Liver Transplantation in South Korea: Ethical Consideration and its Historical Implication	Choi Eun Kyung Korea National Institute for Bioethics Policy
	William G. Lennox and The Health of Missionary Families and Children in the East Asia	Lee Hyon Ju Ewha Womans University
Coffee Break
16:10-17:30	Modernisation and Religious Pathology	Kim Shin K. Ajou University
	Blood Purity and Scientific Independence: Hematology and Postcolonial Struggles in Korea, 1926-1975	Hyun Jaehwan Max Planck Institute for the History of Science
17:30-17:40	Closing Remark
		Mark Harrison